

Plans for Reigate Priory Junior School

Public consultation invitation

Aerial view of site

Dear Neighbour,

Earlier in the year we contacted you to let you know that Surrey County Council is working with Reigate Priory Junior School to create the first operationally Net Zero Carbon school in Surrey, at Woodhatch Place, off Cockshot Hill.

The proposed 600-place purpose-built school building, for junior school children aged 7 to 11, will be majority funded by the Department for Education's Priority Schools Building Programme and is part of Surrey County Council's commitment to ensure the best possible start in life for children in Surrey.

At our first public consultation in February, we showed some early design ideas and asked for feedback on the proposals. We are now ready to share and receive feedback on our proposed plans by inviting you to take part in a second public consultation.

There are more details overleaf about upcoming public consultation events.

Please come and meet our team - we would very much like to hear your comments and feedback.

We look forward to welcoming you.

Please join us to learn more about our plans and meet the team at Woodhatch Place on:
